

The Novel Novice Story...

Twilight at John F. Kennedy M.S.

Twilight is a book we all know and love, is a book that is adored at JFK. That might be true with a lot of other schools, but I have never seen so many people at JFK read a book, especially a book that large. You see students, even teachers reading one of the books in the series, or talking about it with one of their friends. JFK isn't like other schools. They don't get excited over just anything. Most people think that JFK is a poor school and don't think very highly of it, but when they give the school something exciting like Twilight, you see how really smart those kids are. Give everyone a Twilight book, and see all the wonders that happen!

~Ben Cheney~

Ben-

You are probably the smartest and most considerate person ever. You have helped me out of tight situations so many times (*cough*forgettingmyhomework*cough*) and I have no idea how to thank you. Can't wait to see you next year!

~Caitlin

Hey Ben!

It's been an awesome year. Remember the huge snow fight in the middle of the year?? I must say that I most definitely creamed you, haha. We better stay in touch this summer - make room for me in your schedule instead of spending ALL your time with Ang!

You're a great friend, Ben. I'll always be here for ya!

Christina :]

Ben, you have totally expanded my taste in movies. If it weren't for you I'd have no idea about the awesomeness of Parkour nor "Kung-Fu Hustle"! Now, we just have to convert Angela to complete our movie going trifecta perfecta! I'll work on it!;-D

See at the movies this summer! --Maria Jackson

Hey Ben!

This year was amazing, I just wanna say thanx for everything, especially for all the advice, I never could have made it without you. You're a really great friend and I'm glad we got to hang out and chill. Hey remember that time when Angela, you, me, and Tyler were hanging out at your place and you thought it would be cool to make some chocolate milkshakes and you forgot to put the lid on the blender? Haha it was one of the best nights of my life, especially when all the contents in the blender went all over the kitchen and we decided to have a chocolate syrup and whipped cream fight, it took me forever to get all the chocolate off of me! And your mom went crazy when she saw the mess! Man, we had some good times. Anyway, have fun this summer and good luck with Angela!

Best of wishes,

Cassie

~Tyler Crowley~

Dear Tyler,

Thanks for not running me down with your car this year! Have a great summer and drive safe!

Dear Tyler,

I just wanted to say...that I think I am in love with you.
I have kept quiet all year but I don't think I can stand an entire summer without knowing that you know how I feel.
I would have told you in person sooner but I noticed how you looked at Bella and gave up. I figure now that Bella and Edward are official (I mean did you see them at prom?) I might have a chance. So would you go out with me?

Tyler,

I had a really great year. Second Hour was so FUN. And I told you Bella was going to prom with Edward!!!

HAGS!!!

-Kellsey

Tyler,

It's been an eventful year, hasn't it! You nearly hit that girl with your car, Isabella right? I'm sure you don't want reminding, but remember how scared you were to get back into your car? It was so funny, you even hated going in someone else's! You kept shouting at people to watch out for people. I'm going to miss you Tyler!

Take the bus in future,

Unity

Tyler,

If you had almost run me over and then asked me to the dance, I probably would've said no too.

-Alexa

Love, Sara F.

Dear Edward,

I'm really glad you moved to Forks.At the very first sight of you,I lost myself in your strange,but incredibly beautiful,golden eyes.The students-especially the boys-started talking nonsense about you and your siblings.But I was so mesmerized by you that I couldn't think something bad about you.I always knew you were something special but I could never get the guts to speak to you.Now that Bella showed up I regret that.I envy her for having you dating her.I even started hating her for that.But now I saw how both of you looked at each other and I felt guilty.You two are really meant for each other.So I hope you always stay together and live happily forever.I Really am happy for you.

So take care,

All my good wishes for you,

Love you,

Safina

Edward,
So, is the way to your heart stabbing you with a pencil?

HIIIIII ED!!!!

With too much love: Paula Porras

Dear Edward,

You're really quiet most of the time, but you seem like a great person and you're completely gorgeous. I wish we could have gotten to know each other more these past few years. Well, all best luck for the future.

Jasmine.(:

Dear Edward

I confess, I have always had a crush on you.

Love Janine

Edward,

You are beautiful and I've always been too scared to tell you during school, hehehe. I don't really know why I'm scared of you though...hmmmm...but if you weren't with Bella, I would totally be all for dating because I'm completely and irrevocably in love with you! Ummmm...okay I'm totally dazzled by even the thought of you right now so I can't really form my thoughts! See you around (ditch Bella, please!)

WATCH WHERE YOU'RE GOING!

By: Michelle "Chela"

The students of Forks High School were extra cautious while driving to school one morning, already being made aware of the hazardous road conditions. After all, if you see the streets covered with layers of ice, you know that there's an accident waiting to happen.

Unfortunately, that was exactly what had happened for a few unlikely students -- and at the school parking lot of all places! One minute you hear the earsplitting screech of swerving tires coming from Tyler Crowley's van that to appeared out of nowhere, then you see his van spinning wildly out of control and aiming towards a horrified-looking new student known as Bella Swan. Can you say danger-magnet? Luckily, Bella Swan turned out to be all right with only a minor head injury. Tyler Crowley on the other hand was different story. "It could of been a lot worse," he says while lying in bed at the local hospital. "Both of us could of been killed." Indeed. The possibilities of the accident ending tragically were very high, yet fortunately that wasn't the case for us. And, according to Bella Swan herself, you can thank her superhero, Edward Cullen (junior) for it. "Uh, Edward pulled me out of the way," she briefly comments. "It's a good thing he was nearby." There aren't many details about the accident. None of the witnesses that were present during that day could recall what exactly had occurred, they only remember the ambulance coming right away. "It all happened so fast," explains senior Kaylee Freeman. One thing is for certain: By the reactions of these Forks High students, this eventful day would never be forgotten. At least for Tyler Crowley who adds, "No kidding. My mom is going to freaking kill me! I almost killed a girl today and I left a monster dent on her van!"

A Taste of Music

"If music be the food of love, play on!"

~ Duke Orsino of Shakespeare's "Twelfth Night, Or What You Will"

Music has been a part of popular culture for as long as humans have been around to create it. Though it has evolved over centuries and adapted to fit the expressions of different musicians through the ages, it remains the same in one respect: Music brings joy to those who experience it.

Music always seems to have a profound effect on the younger generations of any given time period. Teenagers see songs as a musical extension of their lives. It is no different here at Forks High School, where music from the past and present are a large part of the students' lives.

Forks High students were posed three different questions, which were then compiled to show the variety of tastes showcased in our school community. They were asked who their favorite band or individual artist are and favorite song, then what song best describes their respective year in high school, and then what song best describes the entire high school experience. What follows are some of the best responses, ranging from silly to the emotionally charged.

Rudy Valle is my favorite artist. He's much older, from sometime in the 30s, I believe. His song "Deep Night" also is my favorite.

~Rosalie Hale

I guess, if I have to choose one, I would say I really enjoy Christina Aguilera. She's a tiny little thing with a big voice, and I appreciate that!!!

~Alice Cullen

Linkin Park is one of my favorites, and I really like their song "Papercut" from their album called "Meteora."

~Bella Swan

"The General" by Dispatch is my favorite song.

~Jasper Hale

I really enjoy Paramore, and my favorite song from them is "Hallelujah."

~Angela Weber

I would definitely have to say "Graduation Day" by Kanye West is a good song to describe high school. I mean, it just speaks to me.

~Emmett Cullen

i guess that eve 6 song, "Here's to the night" describes high school. i guess.

~TYLER CROWLEY

"Oh man, definitely "The Times They Are A-Changin'" by Bob Dylan defines junior year. 'Cause senior year is going to be way different from this year.

~Ben Cheney

Weezer's song "The Good Life" definitely describes high school. Definitely.

~Eric Yorkie

There's this great Jackson Browne song from "Fast Times at Ridgemont High." It's called "Somebody's Baby." I, uh, I found a new appreciation for that song recently.

~Mike Newton

Certainly "Teenager in Love" describes my junior year. It's a rather dated song, but a good one nonetheless. It's by Dion and the Belmonts.

~Edward Cullen

"Closing Time" by Semisonic is a good high school song. Which is probably really cliché to say, but I think it's a good song.

~MIKE NEWTON

"Graduation Day" by The Beach Boys is my choice for a senior year song. It's a lovely old song, and graduating is what this year is all about.

~Rosalie Hale

I think the Oasis track "Live Forever" describes high school, and the way any high-schooler feels: Invincible.

~Jasper Hale

My favorite song is "Kung Fu Fighting" all the way.

~Ben Cheney

If you haven't heard about Edward Cullen and Bella Swan yet, can I ask if you were living under a rock this past year? After Ms. Swan came to Forks at the beginning of her junior year, she captured the heart of almost every boy in the school. But none of them could quite hold her gaze (sorry, Mike!) quite like Edward. We're not exactly sure what about Edward (besides his dashing good looks, impeccable sense of humor, self-sacrificing personality, and witty comebacks, of course) attracted our dear little Bella, but one thing is for sure, this couple was meant to be. Never before had anyone seen the Cullens act so humane. Our Bella was the one who was able to pull them out of their own personal cocoon. (Sitting next to Emmett Cullen in Spanish has been one of the greatest experiences of high school) Though, they're still a little frightening, it's great to see some life in them! If any of you have walked past Bella and Edward at lunch, you know how the sparks fly. I would personally be surprised if these two broke up. Being around them is a great thing; you get to see what true love really is. These guys are really a model of what you want in your life. So, we here at the Yearbook send our best. Bella and Edward definitely are this year's hottest couple, but we can't seem to get enough of them. Don't worry, even the coverage we have here feels like an understatement to how much we love to see both of them happy. I don't think I'm the only one when I say that I am really ecstatic to see where this relationship goes senior year and beyond!

Let's Party!

The junior and senior class of Forks High School danced the night away under the twinkling lights in our own gymnasium to celebrate their prom. The theme of the event was "Here's to the Night" and all the students seemed to have had the time of their lives. The girls were dressed in gorgeous gowns and the boys looked amazing in their tuxes. The highlight of the evening was when the prom king and queen were named. Although there were an overwhelming number of votes for juniors Edward Cullen and Bella

Swan, the honors this year went to seniors Emmett Cullen and Rosalie Hale. The couple, looking beautiful, danced their royal dance to the theme song of the evening, "Here's to the Night" by Eve 6. Well seniors, here's to you. Enjoy your summer and good luck in all of your future endeavors.

Twilighters – An Online Phenomenon

The term, Twilighter, has been added to the ultimate home of slang words and phrases, Urban Dictionary as 'a human being who is a fan of Stephenie Meyer's 'Twilight Series', consisting of 'Twilight', 'New Moon', 'Eclipse', and 'Breaking Dawn'. Twilighters are usually quite addicted to the series, and would be considered 'obsessed' by some.' The definition's addition to the database is a definite representation of the influence the fan base, or readers of Stephenie Meyer's Twilight series have become in regards to pop culture. It is the strength of this support base that has made this author such a critical and commercial success. The undeniably addictive text has inspired millions of people from different countries, cultures and walks of life. Twilight has brought people together - whether human, vampire, werewolf or the worst, the fan.

Why has this saga been so successful when nothing looked like it could even touch Harry Potter hype? It is a question posed to many of the leading Twilight websites present on the internet. Kallie (Twilight Series Theories) believes it is because "... everyone relates to at least one character in the book". This is a belief shared by Lisa (TwilightMOMS), "the reader connects with the characters, (be they vampire, werewolf, or human) in a very natural and human way. We relate to them and their struggles because they are applicable in our own lives in different ways." No matter the reason, several million readers have found this book series to be highly addictive due to the passionate and emotional content. Pel (Twilight Lexicon) summarised the attraction of these books as "...good old-fashioned storytelling with compelling characters that people can relate to and care about. Everyone can see themselves in Bella's shoes because she is so ordinary, and with the story in first person, you feel like you are in it." Fed up with perfect girls with flowing hair, grace and social confidence, Bella was anathema to it all. Pel continues with her opinion on the audience's connection with the Bella character 'like I said Bella is so normal. She doesn't have all kinds of neurosis, she's not leading a really bleak existence, and the weight of the world isn't on her shoulders. So many heroines of what's been dubbed "chick lit" are these self absorbed, not that likable, hipper than hip individuals that no one relates to.' Bella was a welcome relief to many readers who feel less-than-perfect at the best of times. No wonder Meyer found almost immediate success.

It is the romance between Bella and Edward that make the novel, for lack of a better word, epic. Reminiscent of classic literature, a smile or a kiss was sufficient enough to make the reader's hormones race. There is enough sexual tension between the teenaged Bella and the vampiric Edward to burn Comic Con to rubble. It is not surprising then to discover that Meyer subconsciously modelled Edward on some mainstays of classic literature - Jane Eyre's Edward Rochester, Pride and Prejudice's Fitzwilliam Darcy and Anne of Green Gables' Gilbert Blythe. These three gush-worthy leading men were the target of most fictional fantasies until Edward Cullen made his debut on the page.

Meyer had an almost unbelievable journey to success, having imagined the key scene whilst dreaming. The story of the novel's conception is almost as well known as the novel itself. She composed the novel, all 120,000 words, in very little time with three young children at home. A publisher became interested in her work almost immediately, with film rights purchased prior to its initial print run. Within a month of being published, Twilight had reached #5 on the New York Times Best Seller list for young adult chapter books. With such a resounding success on her hands, this author has made great strides in being accessible to her readers. Her website and book tours alone have made it possible for many fans to meet her, pester her for spoilers and generally shower her with love and gratitude. For those who cannot make it, there are alternatives. Pel adds that "the thing that Stephenie Meyer has mastered so brilliantly is that she can communicate on the Internet and her tone is clear. How many times has one of us been in a chat room or on a forum and what we want to say gets garbled because you can't hear inflection and tone of voice on the Internet? I think Stephenie comes across clearly and genuinely on the Internet. There is nothing phony about her, and I think fans respond to that. She is a genuine, down-to-earth person; it's not an act, and fans respond."

Twilight's fan base has grown in leaps, bounds and leagues. The proliferation of sites dedicated to the authors, the series and characters is amazing. Grasping onto the new modes of online fandom is the podcast. There are seventeen different podcasts available alone on iTunes with many more available through alternative avenues. Kallie encompasses this online community best when she states "there is a sense of community involved, and everyone wants to feel like they are a part of something bigger" and within Twilight fandom, they are.

This same group of fans, who relate so much to these fictional characters, are responsible for Twilight's success. So vehemently devoted are these readers, there are hundreds upon thousands of fan sites in existence. Lisa addresses this "the internet is just a huge tank of information that connects us all around the world and the Twilights have played a major role by using those lines of communication to spread the enthusiasm for the Twilight Saga". Indeed it has and they have been rewarded for it.

During the production of the film many of the actors have been made available for interviews with the website and even to visit the set themselves.

At the end of July many members of the Twilight community made the pilgrimage to Comic Con in San Diego. This was the first opportunity to see Stephenie Meyer in the company of the Summit Film's cast and director. By all accounts it was a mad house. Screaming fans, some interesting questions and more importantly a live outlet for the fan's to express their joy in the dramatisation of their favourite book. Within hours videos, pictures and audio from this panel were live on the internet. It is something that has come to be expected from the Twilighters. There is no hoarding of information, they are excited to pass on the joy to other members of the community, a sisterhood so to speak.

Twilighters are a diverse bunch of people. Pigeon holing a book with the Young Adult tag can find a novel often alienating itself but with this book it wasn't the case. The broader appeal of the internet and the sites available made it clear that it is just as acceptable to be an adult fan. Lisa and her site TwilightMOMS.com 'brought a whole new demographic made up of adult fans out of obscurity and shown books aren't just "those books". Before it was internet, no one really Twilight fans really fans have proven that appeal that crosses like Harry Potter.'

this initiative by joining answering questions. Lexicon, widely Twilight site on the regular email from all Pel reports that her of adult fans out of people that the teen vampire brought out on the even knew adult existed. The adult the books have an boundaries much Meyer supported the site and The Twilight considered the best web, receives over the world and voice has been recognised at a book signing from their podcast alone. The site administrators themselves have become celebrities within the community, so welcomed is their fount of information and knowledge on all things Twilight. A Twilight fan can be of any age, from any continent or culture and of any gender. Don't judge a Twilighter by their basic statistics, judge them by their passion – you'll be sure to find enough to power the Southern hemisphere.

Twilight has brought people together but what has the fan base really taken away from the connectivity that the internet gives us in its many guises? Lisa has 'gained deep and lasting friendships from taking part in the Twilight Community. I've never experienced any community so close knit and uplifting as they are.'

Twilight as a book has given a new breath of fresh air into the YA literary world. Similar to Harry Potter it has reawakened interest in reading again. When interviewing the administrators, I found that they viewed it similarly. Lisa feels that she has '...gained a renewed passion for life and true love' with Twilight providing the much needed reminder '...to work at keeping your passions burning within you all your life. If you're lucky, something comes along and sparks it again. I wasn't one of the smart ones, but thank goodness I was lucky that Twilight came my way.' And with that I can only nod my head vigorously and say I agree wholeheartedly.

Thanks to Pel (Twilight Lexicon), Lisa (TwilightMOMs) and Kassie (Twilight Series Theories) for allowing me to delve into their Twilight consciousness. I speak on behalf of all Twilighters when I thank them for their contributions to the community.

The Twi-Book Staff are a motley crew that cover the span of every age and originate from every corner the globe. To give you an idea of the brains behind this project, here are the Twi-Bookers Twilight profiles.

TIFFANY

Role: The Yearbook Idea

34, Virginia

How did you become acquainted with the series?

During my first year of teaching, one of my students was reading Twilight. Now I should of realized she had great taste in literature as she was also seen reading Dickens and Austen, but once she mentioned vampires I sort of turned my nose up at the book. I just remember her coming into class and talking about this James guy and how he had Bella. While a fan of Buffy the Vampire Slayer, it just didn't fit in with my snobby brit lit loving mentality. Last year, before a very long car ride to Florida, I decided to give Camille's book a try. It sat in the car with me all the way there and all the way back, and still I did not read it. I purchased the book in December, but still it sat untouched. Until this past March that is. I was on Spring Break and could not stomach another second of American Idol. I picked up Twilight and stayed up all night reading. I have been hooked ever since. Students can sometimes teach the teacher a thing or two.

What aspects of Stephenie Meyer's writing (and/or characterisation) appeal to you?

I think students fall in love with the novel because of the powerful way she describes her characters. They truly come to life. Bella is so relatable. As a woman, and a teacher who sees the daily struggles with insecurities that young women have, it is amazing to find a writer that captures the female psyche. It appalls me that some call Bella a weak character, anti-feminist even. Time and time again, I have seen my students connect to her characters and reflect on their own choices.

Which character you are most like and why?

Most likely Alice. I am pretty outgoing, love to laugh, and sadly pay quite a deal of attention to current fashion trends. Truly, some of the work being created in fashion today is art. I love that Alice is all of these things, yet not shallow. She is one of the nicest, most compassionate characters in the Twilight world. I hope I am somewhat like that.

If you were a vamp what special power might you like and why?

I would not want to be a vampire. I enjoy being human way too much. There is something beautiful in the fragile nature of humanity.

Why do you think the Twilight Series has become so popular?

The Twilight series is popular because its a great story. Pure and simple. It weaves itself in with other great love stories from literature (Jane Eyre, Wuthering Heights, Romeo and Juliet) and does so with grace and ease.

ADELE

Role: Twilighers- An Online Phenomenon, Staff Profiles

27, Adelaide, Australia

Why do you think the Twilight Series has become so popular?

The combination of, a realistic portrayal of a teen girl and the new take on supernatural entities. Bella possesses flaws and yet Edward loves her all the same, it's a fantasy of most people, to be loved for who you are. I really enjoyed a new perspective on vampires, a subject matter I am partial to with my adoration of Buffy and Angel. I also enjoyed the detail to both the now and the histories of each character. I felt like I knew each of them.

What aspects of Stephenie Meyer's writing (and/or characterisation) appeal to you?

It's easy to read. I don't feel like she is trying to hit you over the head with sophisticated prose but mainly it is her storytelling. Sure clichés are present but that hasn't stopped JK Rowling from success either. At the core the success of her writing is due to her perspective being honest, real and more than anything, relatable.

Which character you are most like and why?

A combination of Bella and Rosalie. - I can be extremely self conscious, clumsy and self-doubting. I am also cursed with dreadfully pale skin. In Rosalie, I see that I can keep people at a distance, somewhat seeming cold and removed from some situations, especially when threatened (and I wouldn't mind an Emmett of my own).

If you were a vamp what special power might you like and why?

I would adore the speed and strength that come part of the standard vamp package but I would more than anything like to show other people images like the abysmally named Reneesme.

MICHELLE

Role: Head of Dedications

New York, NY

How did you become acquainted with the series?

I had heard of Twilight for a long time, but I hadn't started reading it until my best friends recommended it to me.

What aspects of Stephenie Meyer's writing (and/or characterisation) appeal to you?

I'm appealed by how Stephenie writes her nonhuman characters with humane characteristics. Also, her stories bring out emotions that I've never felt towards a work of fiction. Her writing leaves me thinking, long after the story has ended.

Which character you are most like and why?

I'm probably most like Alice because I love to shop. Plus, her personality seems most similar to mine.

If you were a vamp what special power might you like and why?

I'd like the power to see the future, so I could know what to expect in life.

Why do you think the Twilight Series has become so popular?

The stories that Stephenie created are so appealing that people suggest them to others, and it continues to spread.

SARA

25, Portland, OR

Role: Cover Page, Spartan Spirit Spread, Welcome page

How did you become acquainted with the series?

I'm a chronic reader and was just browsing the bookstore one day for some new books and spotted Twilight. The cover first attracted me and then I read the back and thought it sounded interesting. When I finally read it, I found myself totally consumed and stayed up way too late every night until it was finished. And then, of course, I made the nearly fatal mistake of reading the first chapter of New Moon without possessing the book. Therefore, the next morning, I was making a mad dash to the bookstore to buy it. Then I sat in the parking lot at work reading until it was time for me to go actually start working. When I had finished New Moon, I began searching the internet in a quest for more (Eclipse wasn't out yet) and that's when I found Stephenie Meyer's website and started checking out fansites.

What aspects of Stephenie Meyer's writing (and/or characterisation) appeal to you?

This may sound like blasphemy, but I really don't think the Twilight books are the best books ever written. Stephenie Meyer once compared her books to fanfiction and I have to admit ... I kind of agree with her. But while I do not think they are not the most well-written books ever, they are completely and utterly satisfying to read. That's what I enjoy so much about them -- it's like instant gratification! I enjoy reading these books -- so I keep rereading them to obtain that satisfaction.

Which character you are most like and why?

I'm not sure I'm exactly like any character in the book. Of course, every girl wants to be Bella. But I only share a couple of her traits -- mostly her love of reading and her very casual attitude toward the supernatural. (I could totally relate to her reaction about learning Edward was a vampire -- I could see myself reacting the same way, if that were to ever happen to me.) But I think the character that I can most relate to, actually, is Charlie. I mean, I've got a total soft spot for him. But also, I'm not sure what it is, but there's just something about him that I find very relatable.

If you were a vamp what special power might you like and why?

Just being a vampire would be totally cool! I've always loved vampire stories, going back to Ann Rice & Lestat and "Buffy the Vampire Slayer." If I were to have a Meyer-esque vampire power though ... hmm ... I suppose reading minds like Edward would be pretty cool.

Why do you think the Twilight Series has become so popular?

I think this goes back to my own reasons for liking the books -- because they are so satisfying to read! People love vampire stories, they love romance stories, they like action, adventure and intrigue ... and you get all of that in these books. Plus, Stephenie Meyer has created such relatable characters that they feel real to you. As the reader, you become attached to them and, therefore, you want to keep reading about them -- you want to know what happens to them; where their lives go next.

KORI

Role: Music Page

19, Michigan

Why do you think the Twilight Series has become so popular?

Honestly, I don't know. What hooked me in was a very odd version of "word of mouth," but what sucked me in was the story. I daresay you can't necessarily find a lot of good, well-rounded stories out there now. I suppose even though many people may not have known they were missing quality writing in the books they read, they at least identified it when they found it. Thank goodness for Mrs. M.!!! But I think word of mouth has been the biggest form of publicity, definitely.

What aspects of Stephenie Meyer's writing (and/or characterisation) appeal to you?

She (usually) writes the way people (at least better educated people) speak. Except for the lack of swearing. My generation uses swear words like any other word, and I think that's actually kind of a huge difference in her books, that she chose not to have her characters swear like sailors! I can't pinpoint characterization exactly, but I think it has something to do with the way I'm able to feel almost all of the characters emotions as if they were my own. They all have very real qualities about them, and that's exciting.

What do you believe you have taken away from being an active member of the Twilight community?

I feel like a huge dork most of the time because I never have gotten into anything like this online. I've always felt things like chat rooms were creeeeeeeeeeepy, and that crazy fans on websites were always just that--crazy. But Twilight is different for some reason. There's (usually) not too much crazy, just all kinds of different people being interested in literature. Really, could you ask for anything more!? I hope Twilight, among other recent blockbuster novels, helps kids find a love of reading. I think all of the big-name Twilight sites help that because they are a place where you can go to get your daily fix of fun, entertaining, harmless news about the book. I'm thrilled to be just a tiny part of this vast universe of awesome goodness and knowledge!!! Wow, that sounds kinda silly...

5. How you found Novel Novice?

I found it through the Twilight Lexicon in its early stages of development. I would check NNT every few days, but never comment or anything. Then one day I decided to leave a comment, I started to check it more frequently, and the rest is history. Now I take part in the forums, comment all the time, and am a proud Twi-Booker!!!

7. If you were a vamp what special power might you like and why?

As for my special power, first of all, I wouldn't choose to become a vampire. But if I was changed as, say, all of the Cullens have been, I think my power would be within the arts. I'm a theatre major, and so I think it would have something to do with the arts. It wouldn't be something like Edward, Alice, Jasper, Aro, or Jane. It would be a different kind of special power. Like my performances would really make people feel something emotionally, or I'd be able to draw/paint/sculpt these beautiful works of art that compare to DaVinci or Michaelangelo. I think that's kind of what every type of artist wants out of their work--for it to touch somebody's life. I think this proves me to be more like Jasper, actually. It's that whole emotion thing again!

LEANA

Role: Prom Write-Up

How did you become acquainted with the series?

I actually picked up Twilight as I was leaving the bookstore. I had another book in my hand and something about the cover caught my attention. I read the back and I was hooked immediately. I put the other book I was going to buy down and got Twilight instead.

What do you believe you have taken away from - ##### a) reading the book ?

By reading the book, it has actually inspired me to get back into writing. I used to write all the time and I just kind of stopped one day.

b) being an active member of the Twilight community?

I love being a member of the Twilight community. It gives me a chance to get to know other people who are as in love with this series as I am

Which character you are most like and why?

I think the character I am most like is Edward. I don't sparkle in the sun and I'm not drop dead gorgeous. I am like Edward in the sense that I would do anything in my power to keep the people I love safe and happy.

KIM

Role: Superlatives (Most Likely)

18, Ontario, Canada.

How did you become acquainted with the series?

My best friend had it sitting beside her in art class, and I became induced in the cover art. She let me read the first chapter, and I became addicted. So, she went and got it for me as an early birthday present two weeks later.

What aspects of Stephenie Meyer's writing (and/or characterisation) appeal to you?

I love how she writes and doesn't care about getting the exact words out. A phrase comes to mind, and she writes it down-- no matter the length. Other authors stress over exact words to use, but Stephenie just wants you to imagine it, and will write what she believes is how it should be written. She's like a fan writer, but she's the main star.

4. What do you believe you have taken away from being an active member of the Twilight community?

At first I was just a plain site wanderer, commenting where I saw fit. But I came to realize that we have become a family. Thousands and thousands of fans sticking up for each other, reading fan fiction, enjoying the debates between Edward Lovers and Jacob Lovers. Now, I've become my own part of the Twilight community with my own site and my own fan fiction. It's amazing to feel like you amount to something, even if it's from a few hundred readers begging me for another chapter.

Personal contributions to the online Twilight community.

Personal Twilight site: www.lupsandtks.blogspot.com

Which character you are most like and why?

Character I am most like: Alice, because I have always have intuition about certain events going on. And I'm always hyper and I love making people happy. Though I look nothing like her, I'm 5 foot 12, I love to think that we have close personalities. I would do anything to save my family and friends.

KACY

Role: JFKMS Write-up

13, Virginia USA

How did you become acquainted with the series?

At a book fair, I found out about Eclipse and later Ms.Truitt introduced Twilight.

Why do you think the Twilight Series has become so popular?

Because Twilight really connects with teenagers and some adults and is basically just a thrilling, romance vampire book.

Which character you are most like and why?

I think I'm more like Bella because I'm very shy and quiet and hate attention. Also because she enjoys reading and cooking

If you were a vamp what special power might you like and why?

I think I would most like invisibility. Or resistance to human blood. Either or, or both.

TAYLOR

Role: Picture Pages, Graphics, Editor-in-chief

15, Minnesota USA

How did you become acquainted with the series?

I had heard about it through a friend and various websites in early '05. The idea seemed so incredibly absurd to me, but I was reassured that it was very good. I stopped in a bookstore and read the back cover and my doubts were confirmed. The story seemed so ridiculous to me that I didn't bother reading it (Big mistake). I heard more and more about it and debated buying it for a very long time. I finally gave in at the end of 2007 at bought all three books. Then I ate, breathed, and dreamed everything Twilight!

What aspects of Stephenie Meyer's writing (and/or characterisation) appeal to you?

Call me a sap, but I have a thing for forbidden love. The way she keeps giving you little hints throughout the books, but doesn't let out the whole thing until the end keeps me reading, keeps making me want to know more. The books are so addicting and very hard to put down. I really appreciate that the books are in the first person, even if Bella is not my favorite character. I think it gives you more insight into Bella's personality and how she sees the world, which makes it all the more difficult to put down. Her characters are so diverse and varying that there is something in the book for everyone, every personality.

Which character you are most like and why?

Hard to say, but according to those online tests, it's a tie between Edward, Alice, and Esme. And I guess I have parts of all of them. I have Edward's stubbornness, I have Alice's happy attitude and I have Esme's caring side.

If you were a vamp what special power might you like and why?

I'd like a combination of Edward and Alice. I'd like what to hear what people are thinking and see what's going to happen. I could hear what people are going to think?

*Thank you to the Novel Novice Twilight site staff for all their help and suggestions.

Nos vemos,

Megan

Hey Jasper,

It was so great getting to work on that history project with you this year! You were a great partner; it was nice to finally have a project that didn't end in drama. It's easy to be around you, and I never got anxious or overwhelmed by the project! It was smooth sailing to get that A- not just because we were always so calm when we were working, but also because you know so much about the civil war!

To Jasper ~

You are awesome! I would have flunked history if you hadn't helped with my term paper on the Civil War. How do you know all that stuff? You should become a teacher! I got an A and passed the class (just barely, but hey - no summer school!) Lucky you, you're outta here. Have fun camping with your family this summer and I know you'll do great things with your life. You're the smartest guy I know! Take care and Go Spartans!

~ Theresa

Dear Jasper,

I'm going to miss you next year! You always had a way of making me feel happy. :)

Your presence would instantly lift my mood. Hope you have fun at college next year!

Dear Jasper,

You're really awesome and I can't get enough of you. You and Alice are so cute together. I really need to hug you, you're so cute and lovable. And you can do anything you set your mind to! Yeah I'm a motivational speaker. Ha Ha. >_< Te Amo Como Usted No Puede Creer, nANCY-nERD ^_^

Dear Jasper,

Alice, really? Not me? Well fine, but she does that weird thing... you know stares of into space. She is so self absorbed... It was nice to have met you Jasper, Alice not so much. I know I won't be seeing you much anymore. But hey, you could set me up with one of your brothers, right? Or you dad...
My love for you will never die down,
Unity

Hey Jasper,

It's been surreal going through my senior year with you. I bet you'll make lots of friends in college. You're just so charismatic (even though you hardly ever talk to anyone outside your family). Just stay calm and have fun. :)
Peace out, Samantha

Dear Jasper,

you look scarily like our friend Phoebe and we think that if you had babies with her you would literally have a mini me!
just thought you might like to know
love
Alice and Helen

Jasper,

I am glad we had some classes together! You were probably the best Biology partner I have ever had! Oh, and thanks for the help in Calculus! You always make me feel calm and comfortable around you! Call me sometime! Or email!
-Isa
P.S. I love your smile!

Hey Jasper,

I really enjoyed sitting next to you in Calc this year.
It was good to get you on your own and away from your family and get to know you that little bit better.
For some reason you always made me feel better, whatever mood I was in. Without even saying a word.
Every calc class I always just feel so calm.
I'd quite often be able to think through the fight at lunch and see how stupid it had been or see it from the other side, be able to work things out later that day.
you'd make me forget about the problems at home and think about all the good stuff, the positives.
I know you couldn't really do this on purpose, but your presence and attitude would always seem to make me feel better, clear my head and calm down.
I know it sounds stupid that I think you could do that, but you just have that effect, being such a happy and calm person yourself, people can't help but smile with you.
So yea thanks for just being such a nice guy and always having that happy, calm energy around.
Never change, you are a really great guy to know.
Keep SMILING!! :D
I wish you all the best for the future and hope to see you again.
Love Emma

Hey Rosalie! This year in calculus was so much fun even though I could've done without the math part. haha. Call me soon and we'll hang out! Always Yours, Madori

Rosalie,

Congrats on Dartmouth. I'm not sure how a girl with four years of autoshop got into an ivy league top tier school, but I'm glad for you. I'm only writing this because I figure that I'll never see you again after you get a chance to read it. I would have really liked to have asked you for a date, but you scare me shakey. Of course, any girl I like well enough to ask out terrifies me, but you more than most. Anyway – great job rebuilding the engine on the classes Camero. It rocks. Wish the rest of the class could have done as good a job on the body and interior. Best of luck.

You always looked so cute. I would die to borrow some of your clothes sometime. Well, hope you had a great Senior year!

Good Luck,

Rosalie,

I was always so afraid to talk to you because you're so gorgeous. I even tried to dye my hair blonde like yours, but it didn't work out. Remember the girl walking around with the semi-orange hair? That was me! Anyway, I'm sad you're graduating. I wish I had talked to you because I have a feeling we would have been fast friends. Good luck in college!

Rosalie: It was great sitting next to you in art class. You're so beautiful and smart, not to mention a wonderful artist! I hope you have an awesome time at Dartmouth. I'm going to school in New Hampshire too, so maybe I'll see you!

Dear Rosalie,

I am truly intimidated of your beauty. It seems to be the reason why most of the girls here in school envies you. But don't get me wrong i only envy you because you have Emmett. I like you though despite the glares and the unkind aura you seem to drag along with you. Take care. Best wishes for you and Emmett in college. :D

My one ambition in life is to be more like you!

You're so amazing and pretty and fabulous and, oh! The list goes on!

Never mind that Bella girl, she's just so normal and plain! You're so much prettier!

I'll keep striving to become more like you and succeed in life.

Best of luck...not that you need it, right? Ha-ha. With looks like yours, you hardly need luck!

Megz xx

Rosalie,

You are an AMAZING person and are beautiful. Hope you have a good summer and good luck next year. You will be great at anything you do.

Your Friend, Danielle Roth

Rosalie-

Hi Rosalie. You probably like have no clue who in the world I am... or how I got your yearbook to sign. Just, girl, you need to give me some makeup tips! I don't know how in the world you do yours so like perfectly. I wish I could've gotten to know you better, ya know. I wish you weren't graduating, I kind of hoped we might be able to be friends. If you ever want to hang out or something, feel free to call me. Anyway, have a great summer and have fun at college. See ya around.

<3 Rachel

Rosalie:

You may not know me but I've always looked up to you. You have a great fashion sense and you are super smart! Whenever I get dressed in the morning, I always think: What would Rosalie wear? Hope you have a nice summer! :)

From: Miaoru

Dearest Rose,

Without you and your wicked fashion and beauty skills, I'd probably be a nerd until I'm 80! Best of luck in college! And I bet you don't need it. :)

Toodles!

Cae

Dear Rosalie,

I am going to miss you sooo much! I can't believe we're already off to college; it seems like i met you only yesterday. You are so lucky because you're amazingly pretty and I will admit I have always been jealous of you for that reason, but you're my best friend and I don't know what i would've done without you these past four years. I wish you the best of luck in college and we MUST keep in touch! Love ya ;]

Your friend,

Kaitlyn

~Lauren Mallory~

Hey Lauren,

Sucks that that truck didn't at least keep that new girl (what the heck is her name!?) out of school for a little while. Maybe all the boys wouldn't have been so crazy about her if she had a cast or scarring or something. Well, we know which super-gorgeous guy we have to thank for that (if he weren't so hot, I would hate him). Anyhoos, see you next year, girlie. Have a great summer! I don't know if I'll survive w/o gossip for a whole 2 1/2 months...

-Kelsey C.

Hey Lauren -

Sorry that haircut I suggested didn't work out right. I would have sworn you could pull off that "America's Next Top Model" hard core edge. Guess not.

-Liz Mc

Hi Lauren! I'm so glad that you got to know Bella this year! She's pretty amazing and so are you! You are an amazing friend and I can't wait to hang out more! Don't be a stranger and thank you for being such an amazing person! Love, Madori

Lauren,

Ummm...Try not to have any hair dye accidents over the summer. I don't know if our eyes can take anymore of it.
Love, Blake

Lauren,

Thanks for being a great lab partner! You really know how to cheer me up when I'm down. Hope we hang out this summer and hope to have some classes with you next year.

Be Positive!

Bernie

Dear Lauren,

Thanks for being such a great friend! All the shopping trips and late-night calls really made my year a blast:) You're definitely a strong,opinionated girl, who won't settle for anything less than what you deserve.

Best Friend for Life,
Destani Marie

Dear Lauren:

I met you this year and i must say that your friendship was something very special for me. Though you didn't like Bella at all, she's a good girl! lov you -Lauralie!
Thanks for those awesome moments we shared! ForEveR losties! hahah (local joke)

xox

Iraiziin Xmb. ^^

Lauren,

I liked when we were friends, but since last year you've changed a lot. We never talk, and you always seem extremely selfish, so I hope you can change your way to behave with others. However, I wish you the best of luck.

Kisses, Maku

Lauren, Do me a favor this summer. Get over yourself.

-Monica

Dear Lauren,

I am so glad we're friends! It's been a heck of a year and I look forward to seeing you soon!

<3 Paige

~Mike Newton~

Hey Mike,

It's too bad you were busy fawning over that new girl (I can't remember her name) all year. You and I could have really had something. Well...maybe next year.

-Kelsey C.

Mike -

Your prom after party was the bomb! I can't wait until next year - we're seniors, babe!

Stay cool this summer!
See you round the beach

Peace!

Sara

Mike!

this year has been pretty good, I haven't talked to you much, but you are a pretty chill guy, hope to talk to you soon!

-Sarah

Dear Mike,

It was such a pleasure to be in classes with you this year. It was really fun, and I will cherish all the memories that we made. You are an amazing friend, and I am glad we met.

Love Always, Kara Lynne ♥

MIKE!

You are the SWEETEST guy ever. Not to mention the fact that your smile is adorable. I'm definitely stopping by the store this summer...to buy some canteens or something. Maybe you can teach me how to pitch a tent. ;)

Love and cupcakes,

~Caitlin

Mike!

It will be soo weird not seeing you in the halls next year when I'm at NYU. I'll miss working with you at your parents store too. We have some serious stories (keep them on the low)! Now that I'm outta here, there's something I've always wanted to tell you. I HAD A HUGE CRUSH ON YOU! Too bad Bella Swan transferred during my last year. Between her and Jessica, I didn't have a chance! Guess we'll see what happens when I'm back for Winter Break. Here's hoping you like older girls! Enjoy senior year! As best you can, anyway. I mean it is Forks! Not like anything crazy happens.

Noelle

Hey there Mike!

I'm really sorry that Bella never accepted to be with you, but some day, if you don't want to be with Jessica anymore, I supposed I'm available ;)

you are good gury...

xoxo

Brenda

Mike, I'm going to miss you so much when your gone! Our trips to the beach were the best! Your fire building skills are super! Ha! I'll never forget you!

Best of Luck, Cheyenne

Dear Mike,

You were so amazing this year! The snowball fights were extra fun, you really know how sneak attack. Going to the beach was also a sweet idea, but we just need more sunny days! My best wishes for you and Jessica, you guys are so cute together. Senior year here we come! (:

Love,

Laura.

Dear Mike,

Just thought I'd say a little sumthin to make your summer a bit brighter!,
Get over yourself.

Stop stalking that poor Bella girl, seriously, if i had to choose between you and Edward Cullen I'd pick Edward too!

Why not Jessica? Or Lauren?(Okay so I was joking about Lauren, I may not like you but I don't absolutly despise you!)

Okay there are plenty of other fish in the sea!

Don't hate you!

Holly

Mike.

I'm close to you in body and in heart!

Dearest Mike,

Sincerely, Linz

Hey Mike!

Whoa this year has been awesome, I'll never forget the time you fell out of your chair starring at Edward and Bella.

Hey don't lie you KNOW you've done it! Ha-Ha Kidding! Anyways maybe next year we'll have a class together.

Heres hoping,

Kendra J.

Mike this year was great and dancing with you at the dances was great!!! And i hpe t see u around!

Always,

Amanda Mastroianni

Hey Mike!

Weve had another great year at Forks! Isnt it funny? You and I have been in school with each other since I can remember. And we always partnered up with each other. Like in Kindergarten when we teamed up to create that popsicle stick tower. LOL. You had glue stuck to you for ages after that.

But through the years Ive seen a different side to our friendship. Geez, I cant believe Im even writing this, and in your yearbook for petes sake. But I suppose, I wouldnt be able to do it any other way. Weve grown together, had rough and good times together, and through it Ive learned.

About myself and the world around me. You remember when we were partnered in english to read the parts of Romeo and Juliet? I was ecstatic. It gave me a chance to express what I was feeling without worrying about the consequences. Ive seen you pine over girls, and its always ended the same. I think its time you realized whats been in front of you the whole time. Your best friend. The one whos hopelessly in love with you.

With all my heart,
Danielle

Dear Mike,

Believe it or not, I have always had a huge crush on you, and you've never even noticed me! Why?! You should let other people breathe and examine your options... Seriously, how come you've never even looked my way? If you'd only look at me, our relationship could be as warm as a pair of socks in the winter, if you know what I mean.

Your eternal admirer,
Anita.

Mike!!!

I love you so much! You are like my freaking hero! And I can play volleyball so if Bella dies, I got your back! ;)

ILy, Mikey!

-Haley

Dear Mike,

Hey Mike! It was really great getting to know you this year. But since i am a senior and going to college i thought i would give you some last advice. Give up hopes on getting together with Bella Swan! I see the way that Edward Cullen looks at her, he is so madly in love with her he's not letting her go any time soon. And she is beyond in love with him, so sorry but she's not going to see you as anything else as a friend! So don't ruin your friendship with her by tryin to make it something more! But I can tell Jessica Stanly has the hots for you so why don't you talk to her more? Just a thought. Sorry if i sound harsh but i think you should know. So yeah this year was alot of fun! Getting to know you in Photography class was great, Your a good kid you'll do well. Hope you the best in the future. Maybe ill see you this summer!!

Your friend

*Emmie*

Mike,

Oh my gosh! You are a very funny friend! Remember, that one time, at the one place, with that one person and his pants? That was hilarious! Hope we keep in touch over the summer!

Your friend,

Isa

~Jessica Stanley~

Dear Jessica,

I was happy we became friends. Even though we have lost touch it was great to get to know you. And try not to be too jealous of Edward and Bella. Maybe someday you and Mike will get married?

From, Kacy

Jessica,

Have a fun summer! You and Mike should get back together, you made a cute couple ;)

Love, Marie

Hey Jessica!

I loved hanging out with you this year. All the inside gossip about everything that has been going on and the shopping trips. I just love your bubbly attitude. Had a lot of fun!

*Kristen

Dear Jessica,

I'm so glad I met you! You are always so happy and are always such a good friend to me!

I hope things turn out ok with Mike. Keep the relationship over the summer, ok? You guys seem really good for each other, and I would love to see that grow into something bigger.

Have a fantastic summer, and I will see you next year!

~Kylee

deven

Jessica: I loved having History and lunch together! You always have a smile on your face and you're so fun to chat with! Call me over the summer-maybe we can go to the beach! ~Allie

Dear Jess,

Im so blessed to have you as my friend. You really helped me get through high school. All the shopping and get together made me feel alive. I know your still pissed coz "she" got more of his attention, just let it go. You don't want a cold boyfriend anyway. I'm 100% sure he's not the PERFECT guy for you. But that's just me though. Hope you have a great life. Take care.

Love,

Julie Roa

P.S.

You still didn't return my make-up kit. Mom's so furious she made me pay every time she goes to the salon. Can you return it before she starts talking about cutting my credit cards? thanks.

Dear Jessica,

You are such a fun friend. You can always gossip with me!!! :) Thanks for always sharing the juiciest gossip you have.
renae

Jessica,

Thanks for being such a nice friend! I wouldn't be able to look for a perfect prom dress without your help. (: Anyhow, let's hang out again sometime. Let's go to New York this summer! Maybe Angela and Bella cango too. :D I love you to bits! Have a great summer, girl. ;) Lol.

XOXO,
Ninna

Jessica,

I really enjoyed having History class with you this year. I really had fun spending time with you and eating lunch with you. I hope everything between you and Mike works out. Have a great summer and see you next year.

But hey, Danni was eyeballing Jacob...you wanna introduce them, you could be a matchmaker. Sorry about your leg, i can't believe you fell down the stairs and out a window. I really enjoyed being with you for two straight years. It's like you brought all the action with you when you first moved here. You're really great and so brave, you're not afraid of anything. You were so brave, you were still so out with Edward Cullen! And you guys make a perfect couple. You've also been a good friend to everyone here at Forks High. You sure got all the boys drooling on you since you got here, but of course you choose Edward. Let's never forget the good years. Gotta find Angela to sign my yearbook now!

Dear Bella,

it has been a great highschool experience to go to Forks. I hope that you had a great year. Mike and Jessica, were a great couple. But you and Edward equal like total infinity and beyond true love. The rest of the Cullens were just sooo wonderful, and graceful. I wish I was like them, but im the total opposite. But it has been great, and I'm sad to say goodbye, but I hope to see you and the Cullens in the future.

I hope you have a great life, with the Cullens,

See you,

Gracen

Bella,

It was a pleasure meeting you this year, I'm glad you found your true love hold on tight and don't give up, in the end everything will work out for you and Edward.....even for Jacob!

It was so great getting to know you this past years, you are a really great person. I keep telling myself Jelousy works the opposite way you want it to, but can you blame me? Do you think he knows that pretty much every girl that knows Edward thinks hes perfect? You are SO Lucky. Love you lots!

Taylor

Bella,

I've admired you since the first day you came to Forks. I was so happy to hear you were moving in with Charlie. It was nice getting to know you this year. Have a good summer!

Hi Angela! What a great year it has been! You are so very sweet and a true friend. I know we did not spend a lot of time together but you were a life savior in some of our classes. Best of luck to you in the future and hope to see you soon! - Liz D.

Hey Angie! =)

I'll always remember you as the sweetest and most lovable friend I ever had throughout my years at Forks High. Thanks for all the crazy (and extremely fun) times we had, especially that big 4 hours shopping spree for our prom. I'll definitely keep that in my memory, along with all the rest of course! Here's a quote I'd like to dedicate to ya:

forever, never apart.

Maybe in distance, but never in heart."

Don't ever stop smiling Ang and stay cool! Promise we'll keep in touch and all the best in the future for you hun. Oh and if you and Ben ever do get married, as one of your most awesome friend I expect an invitation to the wedding =P

(nah....JOKES!)

Love always,

Hey Angela,

I hope that your senior year in High school was fun and memorable. I know I'll never forget you you are truly a great friend. You always listened to my problems and were exactly the type of friend that I needed this year. I really hope that we don't lose touch. Wishing you a great summer and life,

Your friend,

Katie Franco

Dear Angela,

I think it has been cool being your classmate because although we both are very shy and, consequently, we haven't talked a lot, I know I've found a good person in you... you've showed me it during the year! I hope you have a nice holiday!! If you stay in Forks this summer, we will be able to go to the beach someday, no? (Even though the weather here isn't the best...but I'd like to know you better!!)

Best wishes, Manu

Dear Angela,

I had such a great time being your lab partner in Biology! And thanks for tutoring me in Trigonometry. That was a pain. But thanks to you, I passed! YAY! Anyways, I hope we can meet up sometime this summer. You're a really great friend. Can't wait to go through senior year together! Haha. :)

Dear Angela,

I can't believe that i am graduating and your not!! I always forget that your a year younger than me! What am i supposed to do in college with out you there to give me advice about everything?!? Angela your such an amazing person. You've helped me so much these past years! Babysitting the twins together every other weekend was so much fun. I'm so greatfull to have an annoying little sister who is best friends with your sisters cause than i would have never meet you. All those trips to Port Angeles and Seattle, and those like yearly sunny days we got to spend at first beach, so many of my memories of high school will have you in them. Exspect a phone call or email from me at least twice a week. I dont think i can go a week without speaking to you! Oh and you are visiting me at college, it will be good you can see the school and i can see my best friend! Now i l'm getting all gushy and i dont want to get tears on your beautiful yearbook!

I will be seeing you many many times this summer!!!

Love,

*Emmie*

Dear Angela,

You're such a nice person, you care for others and have such a good heart, always caring for other people's feelings and not judging anyone. I'm so happy to be able to call myself your friend. Thanks for always being there for me!

Hugs,

Anita.

~Eric Yorkie~

Dear Eric,

Why Eric? Why? While you were trying to get with Bella, I was there! Watching you from a distance. Remember the card I slipped into your locker on Valentines day? Remember the poem I wrote for you? Well I DO!

"When you walk down the hall, you look so nice and tall. With your dark slick hair, and your pleading eyes, I could not help but compromise my love for you. When you took that girl to prom (DARN YOU ANGELA!) you caused detrimental damage to my heart. So this is my last chance, my breath comes out in pants, as I wait for your answer."

~Hazel

Dear Eric,

Thank you for being such a good friend to me. I also appreciate the time you helped me prepare for my tennis match in gym that day. That one-on-one practice match really helped me focus on the game!

I wish you the best of luck next year!

-Dana

Dear Eric

Thanks for being a really cool helpful friend to me. Let's catch up and play chess some time.

Love Janine

Eric -

You're a great friend. I hope you have an awesome summer. I can't believe we're finally seniors!!!

Sincerely, Michelle

Eric- You're such a sweetie!!! I'm glad we got to know each other. Hope your summer is grand! See you for senior year!

- Anne

Dear Eric,

History was fun. Just... make sure you cut those rants about Mike, Edward, and that Bella girl. to a minimum. See you next year!
